Baxter pleads guilty

BY ED LEPOMA

George Baxter, the beleaguered former president of the Jubilee Casino, has pleaded guilty to a charge of interstate travel in execution of fraud.

Baxter entered the plea bargain Tuesday in an appearance before U.S. District Court Sarah Vance in New Orleans.

In exchange for the guilty plea, the Justice Department will ask the court to dismiss money laundering and theft charges pending against him.

Sentencing for Baxter is set for 9:30 a.m. Dec. 6 in New Orleans. The maximum penalty the court could impose is 10 years imprisonment and/or a fine of not more than $250,000.

As a condition of his plea bargain, Baxter also promised to return to the U.S. Customs Service a total of $36,500, which the Justice Department contends he obtained illegally.

The fifth count of the indictment to which Baxter pleaded guilty alleges that he devised a scheme to defraud and obtain money by means of false and fraudulent pretenses. The indictment alleges that Baxter "did knowingly and willingly" induce undercover law enforcement officers to travel in interstate commerce, namely from New Orleans to Clermont Har-

Vandals strike Hancock High

BY TRACI BONNEY

Vandals have struck at Hancock High School.

Superintendent Myrna Bourgeois requested Monday that the school board go into executive session to discuss school security and possible litigation in connection with a graffiti painting incident at the high school last weekend.

The board went into executive session to discuss the matter, but reported taking no action concerning the situation.

Bourgeois said afterward that three buildings — the junior high school and two others — were spray-painted upon sometime during the weekend.

"It looks like it's gang-related, judging from the type of graffiti," Bourgeois said. "It's similar to graffiti that has been painted at other schools over the past couple of years."

"It also isn't the first time it has happened to us. This happened last year, and we had to have the graffiti sandblasted off. This year, we've contacted a paint manufacturer who has given us the name of a solvent we can use, so we're ordering some of that to remove the paint."

George Burleson with the Hancock County Sheriff's Department is investigating the case. So far, he said, there have been no arrests, although there are some suspects.

OTHER MATTERS

Carolyn Necaise briefed the board on the school district's transportation situation. She said the district has 46 routes and 46 buses on those routes, with another several buses available as spares in case of an emergency.

Even so, a couple of the buses are experiencing overcrowding. Necaise said that's typical at the beginning of the school year, though, and it should settle down in September, after one last post-Labor Day surge in the number of students riding the buses.

"Some parents drive their kids to school the first couple of weeks, then let them ride the bus," she explained. "This happens every year."

Meanwhile, she has reworked the routes to alleviate most of the crowding problems. She said she will continue to work on the situation.

The school board approved 26 items of a 30-item consent agenda, most of which dealt with first-of-the-year matters in personnel, student and equipment areas.

Three of the four items held were tabled until the board could obtain more information, and the fourth item — the abolition of the Christian Life Club at Hancock High School — was tabled because the problem had been solved before the board meeting.

Board president Cheryl Bennett said she received a call that the club had wanted to

Bay proposes $9.7 million budget

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Bay St. Louis City Council meets Monday to begin reviewing a $9.7 million spending plan for fiscal 1996, a budget that's $2 million less than this year's projected spending.

Council set a special meeting to hear details of the proposal, which, for the first time since gaming arrived in town, shows the city in somewhat of a financial pinch even with reduced spending. The mayor's proposal that the city borrow $400,000 to help finance some capital projects over a four-year period.

The drop in proposed spending primarily reflects that the city has fully funded several major projects this year: Local costs of renovating the depot and building a downtown beach have been set aside in this year's budget.

But the city is projecting to collect only $2.3 million from Casino Magic in the coming year: $700,000 less than what was projected for 1995.

The city's share of revenues from the casino have been, until most lately, on the decline this year. While the city had budgeted $3 million in gaming revenues, only $2.1 million now is expected as the city's total take by the end of the fiscal year Sept. 30.

And while the city has used most of its gaming revenues for capital projects and purchases in the past, there still are some major projects on the municipal plate. Those projects include building a new senior citizens' center, with a $160,000 grant that requires a $160,000 local match.

The city also wants to set aside $300,000 to build a major sports complex on Athletic Drive, a project city officials recently diverted from the Parks and Playgrounds Commission's hands.

Other proposed capital spending includes over $120,000 in local funding for construction of a bikeway system and shoreline protection north of Bay View Court.

Dedications honors former Waveland mayor

BY RICHARD MEEK

Waveland honored its favorite adopted son Monday during dedication ceremonies at the Waveland Post Office.

City and county officials, along with U.S. Rep. Gene

Taylor and over 100 spectators, braved hot and humid conditions at the ceremony, which saw a plaque unveiled in Longo's honor. The plaque read, "This building is named in honor of John Longo, Jr."

Longo, who passed away in June of 1992, served three terms as alderman and five terms as mayor.

"The main thing my dad wanted for the City of Waveland was its own identity," said current alderman Tommy Longo, son of Johnny.

"The city had always played second fiddle to other cities on the Coast," he said. "Now, we have modern sewage, a hospitality center, library, businesses, shopping centers, and annexation."

"We became a model city," Longo recalled how his dad was able to recruit K-Mart to Waveland because "he promised them vapor lighting."

Longo related how one time when his dad was contemplating retiring from office, citizens organized a petition asking him not to leave. "He loved this city."

Waveland city attorney Lucien Gex called the former mayor "one of my very best friends."

"He was also one of the best friends the folks in Waveland ever had," he said.

Taylor said if Congress had the power to bring people back, the one person he would like to see return is Johnny Longo.

"Johnny is the kind of person we need today," Taylor said. "He was the epitome of putting public service ahead of himself."

"He is the kind of public servant people are begging for. He always believed in doing the best you can with what you have for the least amount of money."

"He did it so well." Ted Longo, one of Johnny's six children, said his father never forgot the city belonged to the "citizens."

"He never forgot why you asked him to be your alderman and mayor," Ted Longo said.

Bay officials briefed on noise

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Bay St. Louis City Council members got a briefing on noise abatement Monday from an expert who outlined the equipment and training needed to keep the town quieter.

"It's not that complicated of a thing," A.J. Scardino advised a workshop session of council, as he demonstrated noise meters and associated equipment widely used by industries and municipalities.

Pass Christian in for federal funds

BY ED LEPOMA

Within the next 45 days, the city of Pass Christian should receive more than $258,000 in federal funds to help about 17 low-income families fix up their houses.

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Renewal recently notified the city that it will be funded in fiscal 1995 to participate in the agency's Home Investment Partnership Program.

The grant money would be channeled to the Mississippi Department of Economic and Community Development, then funneled into a special city account. The funds would be drawn down as needed once applicants are approved, and repair work can be contracted.

Eddie Bigelow, a local federal programs consultant, approached the city last May, and proposed to file the grant application for the city. The Mayor and Board of Aldermen approved, and Bigelow joined forces with Neel/Schaffer Inc., of Hattiesburg, an engineering and planning firm, to document the area most in need in Pass Christian.

Bigelow said municipalities the size of Pass Christian can receive a maximum grant of $350,000 under the HUD program. The actual grant approved for Pass Christian totaled $258,437. She is hopeful the remaining $90,000-plus would be funded in fiscal 1996.

The project area where the rehabilitation will take place is located in a flood plain where some homes had as much as four feet of water inside when Hurricane Camille blew through in 1969. Most of the single-family houses date back to World War II.

The area is bounded on the east by Church Avenue, on the west by Clarence Street, on the south by West Railroad. It also takes in the length of Henderson Avenue from North Street to Railroad Street.

Bigelow explained the time-consuming procedure that was needed to lay the groundwork for filing the grant application.

"We were required to do a door-to-door survey to see who might qualify for assistance," she said. "The people and the area that were chosen were based on the answers given us in the survey."

Under the program, only single-family, owner-occupied dwellings would be renovated. A single person's income could not exceed $16,950 annually and a family of four must have an annual income of $22,250 or less. The average grant available to the homeowner cannot exceed $25,000.

"The owners who were identified will be given every opportunity to participate in the program," said Bigelow. "If they choose not to, we will go on to another applicant who can qualify."

Bigelow emphasized that the residences selected for the program must be owner-occupied. They cannot be rental units.

"You can have an extended family living in a house, as long as it is owner-occupied," she said.

Bigelow said the application process was not cumbersome. "We'll be asking them some personal questions about their income; they'll have to document that, and they'll have to verify ownership of the property," she said.

The grants that will be provided the homeowner can be used in a variety of ways. Bigelow emphasized that the focus of the program is to correct health and safety standards in the home, specifically to bring wiring, plumbing and sewage systems up to code.

"These monies can't be used for wall-to-wall carpeting or for basically cosmetic reasons," she said.

Homeowners can use the money to repair or install new roofs and gutters, and repair existing siding. They can install new water heaters or central air and heat. They can insulate walls, and install heat and cold resistant windows, and paint the exterior.

Bigelow said she'll spend the next 45 days preparing the environmental assessment and other paperwork required before the money is actually released.

"It will probably be late October until we actually have the money on hand to spend," she said.

She will also provide all technical services needed to administer the program, and will work with the mayor and Board of Aldermen to administer the grant.

Citizens air complaints to Bay St. Louis City Council

BY MARY G. SEILEY

Three citizens, upset over unrelated matters, bombarded Bay St. Louis City Council Tuesday night with their complaints.

When the air cleared, council moved to routine business.

Complaints came from Collette Ladner, a Beach Boulevard antique-and-flea market owner, who said plans for a series of "block parties" downtown will have a drastic impact on her business.

Saturdays -- envisioned as the target date for outdoor parties sponsored by two local bars and a restaurant -- are the busiest days for the 12 dealers who rent space in Ladner's market. But officials plan to divert traffic from the block-at-issue: between Main and Court streets on Beach Boulevard.

Customers, said Ladner, won't pass the barricades to shop. "Isn't the intent to bring customers to bars?" she asked, during a prolonged exchange with Mayor Eddie Favre.

The mayor insisted he'd agreed to the block party idea proposed to him as a way to attract more people to downtown. Even if they don't shop during the partying, he said, visitors probably will want to return to Bay St. Louis and do so later.

Ladner contended, however, the only business she would see from the block partying would be intoxicated revelers in search of air conditioning or restroom facilities. She said she would have to hire an extra worker to deal with the non-shopping visitors she would have.

Favre said the event is hoped to be the precursor of a return to the beachfront festivals held here several years ago. And, he said, if there are problems associated with the festivities, he'll review the situation before authorizing any more block parties.

"So that's it? We're going to have this regardless?" asked Ladner.

Council members asked Ladner to give a follow-up report to council after the first block party.

Council then heard from Carol Mahler, upset over finding that the Parks and Playgrounds' tennis camp in which she enrolled her daughters was co-sponsored by Casino Magic.

A gaming opponent, Mahler said she was stunned that the instructor was Casino Magic's tennis pro, and that there were casino banners and "freebies" at the lesson site.

Council advised Mahler to air her complaints to Parks and Playground commissioners, since council does not deal directly with that agency's programs.

On another matter, Sam Nichols complained over drainage difficulties in Ward 3, and failure of the city to finish paving Sycamore Street.

Favre said the paving can't be finished until major sewer work is done, and the drainage work has to stand in line with other, more serious drainage problems the city is tackling.

While the housing project grounds in Ward 3 is a virtual "swimming pool" in heavy rains, Favre said other areas are worse off, with homes taking on water. Cedar Point, Spanish Acres and Hancock Heights residents are in far worse need of drainage help immediately, said Favre.

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Diamondhead Garden Club

Dr. Nancy Yarbrough, president of the Diamondhead Garden Club, will preside over the first meeting of 1995-96 on Sept. 20 at 10 a.m. in the Diamondhead Community Center.

Plans for the year will revolve around an annual theme of 'Community Beautification.' Early planning includes monthly training in flower arrangements at the regular meetings, a Christmas tour of homes, a butterfly tour to Audubon Park, and significant plantings in and around Diamondhead.

Additional plans include the annual Pilgrimage, annual Flower Show, and representation at district and state meetings.

The Garden of the Month awards, which continue through the summer vacation, were awarded for the month of August to Michael and Mary Parker, 7898 Hilo Way. The Golf Course Garden of the Month award winners were John and Pat Carrell, No. 1 Pine, 7730 Moanalua Way. The Commercial Award went to the Days Inn.

Biloxi man waits 50 years to receive Purple Heart

Having waited 50 years after the fall of Japan and the end of World War II, long-time Biloxi businessman George Higginbotham got the Purple Heart, said South Mississippi Congressman Gene Taylor.

The former Marine Private, who was wounded by two 47 mm shells during an assault on the Japanese island of Okinawa, said he never pursued the medal because it did not mean much to him at the time.

"The reason I didn't pursue my medal was because there were so many of my friends who didn't make it, and I was so glad I was fortunate enough to come back home to my wife and children," he said.

Landing on Okinawa on Easter Sunday, April 1, 1945, he was in the first wave of Marines to land on a portion of the island called Yellow Beach. As a member of the Easy Company, Higginbotham and his comrades were ordered to cut the island in half.

Fighting along the first line of defense for almost three months before getting wounded, Higginbotham said he's almost thankful he was put out of service.

"Maybe I was lucky to have been wounded that morning," said Higginbotham. "The same artillery killed General Buckner. That night our fifth Company Commander was killed. Line company casualties topped 75 percent. The only way to get out that day was to wait for a tank to pull by and then crawl through the bottom of it."

Higginbotham said the only reason he changed his mind about the medal was when he recently returned to Okinawa for a 50th reunion.

"I met about 400 of the original veterans of the invasions," said Higginbotham. "All of them said I should do this for my children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren."

During a recent small family ceremony outside Rep. Taylor's Gulfport district office, Taylor gave Higginbotham the medal he earned more than half a century ago.

DMR Coastal Zone Management gets a hand from Taylor

The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources will see $819,000 this fall to start up a number of projects under the Coastal Zone Management Programs, according to South Mississippi Congressman Gene Taylor.

Taylor said projects funded through the grant, such as those directed at cleaning up marine debris and preserving coastal lands, are important in South Mississippi.

Additionally, he said the outreach program would be beneficial to the public as a key source for information.

The grant, approved by the Department of Commerce, will also provide funding to implement projects such as coastal program administration, program coordination, technical assistance, permit administration and public outreach.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

A Weekly Editorial From Mississippi Economic Council

Ready or not, states' rights are coming

Mississippi's economy is on a roll, and it didn't have come at a better time.

With income up, unemployment down, and tax revenues at a record high, Mississippi is enjoying unusual economic success at a time when the national is witnessing a new beginning for "states' rights."

Across the nation state governors, legislators, and others who have been advocating "power to the states" and "states' rights" are soon to have their wishes granted.

The Congress is planning the most radical shift in power since the New Deal of over half a century ago. This time, though, power is shifting the other way, from the federal government back to the states.

In Washington legislation is being completed which will pass back to the states responsibility for a host of social, educational, and safety programs including welfare, Medicaid and job training—programs that are costing the federal government some $200 billion per year.

Washington wants the state governments to do something Washington has been unable, or unwilling, to do. Washington wants the states to make the tough decisions on which social, educational and safety programs will be cut to balance the federal budget.

The programs are coming back to the states, but with substantially fewer dollars attached.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Political moderation seems in short supply

Political moderation in the rush to the right down here seems to be in short supply. Thus, it is somewhat refreshing to see some evidence of it in one of the state's two Republican U.S. Senators.

Sen. Thad Cochran, in the intramural power struggle going on within the Senate's Republican majority, is considered to be in the moderate-conservative wing of the party.

According to close observers of the Congress the coalition of moderate Democrats and Republicans in the Senate now holds the balance of power in checking the excesses coming from the "revolution" in the House.

The focal point of the Senate's struggle, of course, is the undergirding battle between the two leading GOP Senators with presidential aspirations—Sen. Bob Dole of Kansas, and Sen. Phil Gramm of Texas. Dole is deftly trying to ward off the assault from the party's right and the Christian Coalition, for which Gramm has become the chief spear-carrier.

Cochran has made no secret of the fact that he is supporting Dole for President over his fellow senator, Gramm. Consequently on key Senate issues, where Dole and Gramm have clashed, Cochran usually is found in the Dole camp. Dole has doggedly continued to hold on to his job as the Senate's Majority leader, despite the rigors of waging his campaign for the presidential nomination.

It's well known around Washington that one of his primary reasons for not taking leave of his majority leader post is because the next guy in line to take over in his absence is Sen. Trent Lott of Mississippi, the GOP whip.

Lott is regarded as a member of the hard right in the Senate, and is not far removed from the Senate's resident neanderthal, Jesse Helms, the North Carolina Republican.

Dole knows that if he turned over the Senate reigns to Lott, the carefully coiffed Mississippian will steer the agenda further to the right and play into the hands of Gramm. Although Lott has not openly endorsed Gramm for the GOP nomination, he owes his one-vote election as GOP whip to Gramm's help in defeating Dole's choice for the job.

There's a lingering uneasiness among the Republican center, including national Republican Chairman Haley Barbour, of the party repeating next year the 1992 national convention when the Christian Right and the fire-eaters such as Pat Buchanan and Pat Robertson turned off many Americans with their extremist rhetoric. Some national political observers believe that the takeover of the 1992 convention by the far-right cost the GOP the election.

In the meantime, Cochran has taken some nasty little shots from the GOP right in Mississippi, especially in connection with his endorsement in TV commercials of attorney Charlie Ross against controversial state Sen. Mike Gunn in the recent Republican primary.

A fabricated story that Cochran's TV spots for Ross were paid for by Mississippi trial lawyers was planted with several national right-wing commentators, and even picked up by the Wall Street Journal just prior to the Aug. 8 primary.

Belatedly last week, the Wall Street Journal carried a full statement from Cochran emphatically declaring that the allegation of any connection between the trial lawyers and the Ross endorsement was a flat falsehood. Ross also had a letter in the Journal making it clear that the trial lawyers had not contributed any money to his campaign.

Gunn, known as a clever propagandist, who prepared some of ex-Klan wizard David Duke's campaign material in the 1991 Louisiana Governor's race, is believed to have peddled the Cochran canard to Pat Buchanan (with whom Gunn has some strange link) and Buchanan in return passed it on to conservative columnist Robert Novak. Eventually, it made the rounds to the Wall Street Journal.

Cochran still ranks a top-heavy favorite of Mississippians in the polls. A June Mason-Dixon poll gave him a 75 percent favorable rating, and only a 20 percent negative, slightly better, incidentally, than Lott's favorable — unfavorable rating.

The unspoken reality in Mississippi's Republican ranks is that there is no love lost between the state's GOP Senators, nor has there ever been in the 23 years Cochran and Lott have served together in Washington.

That Cochran is the senior Senator, and gets certain recognition because of it, obviously irritates Lott. That cropped out recently when Cochran won Senate approval of a bill designating the chair once used by Jefferson Davis to be assigned to the state's senior Senator. As a news account related, Lott was not an enthusiastic co-signer of the bill.

FROM THE SENATE

By Senator Trent Lott

Getting our act in order

This Congress has passed more congressional reforms in 40 days than the liberals who controlled the previous Congresses passed in 40 years. Both the House and the Senate have taken unprecedented steps toward congressional reform, cutting budgets, reining in abusive practices of the previous Congresses, and ending politics as usual.

The first bill enacted this Congress was the Congressional Accountability Act, requiring Congress to comply with the complex myriad of civil rights, labor, and health and safety laws that apply to the rest of the country.

Previous Congresses talked about it. We actually adopted the Act which takes effect in January. I am hoping that its greatest impact will be to illustrate first hand the unnecessary burden of many of our laws and lead to their reform or even repeal.

The Legislative Branch Appropriations bill, which provides the funding for the Congress, slashed spending for the House and Senate by hundreds of millions of dollars, cutting one in three committee staff and shrinking or closing support offices.

That bill eliminated the Office of Technology Assessment and provided for zero increases in spending for congressional leadership offices. Privatization efforts of other support offices in Congress are underway, and taxpayers will reap more savings next year.

Interestingly enough, this bill has been targeted for a veto by President Clinton. Presidents usually veto bills whose spending has increased over previous years and is over budget. This bill cuts spending by more than $200 million over the previous year.

In other reforms, the House has term-limited committee chairmen and the Speaker, while the Senate has passed term limits for our leadership.

The Senate recently passed gift limit and lobbying reform that protects grass-roots organizations. The lobby reform marked the first major change in how business is done in Washington in 50 years.

There should be stringent controls on gifts and travel for lawmakers. The Senate-passed legislation, which will take effect next January, tightens gift rules, identifies lobbyists, provides disclosure of lobbyists' activities, and makes information about gifts received and lobbyists activities more readily available to the public and in greater detail than ever before. It is a good move.

A first-ever independent audit of the House of Representatives, as promised in the Contract with America, found that in the previous Congress, there was a shocking disregard for financial controls and business-like practices, and frequent waiving of the rules.

The audit, conducted by Price Waterhouse, made 226 specific recommendations with an estimated annual savings of $200 million. Many of these recommendations already have been implemented.

Campaign finance reform is an important issue and one we will be taking up. In the meantime we will be passing the implementing legislation which will bring us to a balanced budget by the year 2002 and which will save the medicare system from bankruptcy.

Senator Lott welcomes any questions and/or comments about this column. Please write to: Senator Trent Lott, 487 Russell Building, Washington, D.C. 20510 (Attention: Press Office).

"CUEVAS" QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

My brief outings since my hospital stay have revealed the hardness of crepe myrtles on Hwy. 90. I know we have had many record-breaking days of high temperatures during the past month.

Those tip beds at the intersection of Hwy. 90 and Main Street, planted by Casino Magic and Burger King, really look good, too.

As a matter of fact, the beauty of the beds was recognized by me when I left the hospital and was on my way home.

Grass sure has been growing very fast. We have had ours cut several times in recent weeks.

That is something I miss being able to do, as I have always enjoyed doing yard work.

There sure has been a big improvement along Hwy. 90 since the tip bed project began in Bay St. Louis with Jimmy Loiacono pushing the project.

The members of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Beautification Committee continue to work on projects for the median along Hwy. 90 and also Hwy. 603.

We want our highways to be inviting to visitors and show them we care.

As I was riding down Beach Boulevard on Monday, I was happy to see the new sand beach being pumped. That glowing white sand sure looked good.

It is good to see the city of Bay St. Louis continue to push for seawall protection between the bridge and Bay View Court.

We should all be concerned about the plight of that live oak, which is on the verge of falling into the Bay. I wonder how many stories that tree, which is several hundred years old, could tell if it could talk.

We all need to be concerned about our environment.

We have to be concerned about what we leave for our children, grandchildren, etc.

P.S. I am still grounded.

Beach erosion project in jeopardy

BY MARY G. SEILEY
An Army Corps of Engineers project to protect a section of Beach Boulevard from erosion was, itself, hanging by a thread Wednesday.

Bay St. Louis City Council members expressed surprise -- and anger -- when they learned that last-minute demands from some of the seven property owners adjacent to the project may kill the project.

Unless the conflict is resolved by Sept. 12, it'll be scrapped by the Corps of Engineers for this fiscal year. Since there's no money appropriated for similar projects next year, the local shoreline protection idea would be dead for the foreseeable future, officials say.

The only alternative to proceed, in the absence of agreement with the property owners, would be a "quick take" of the easements through the Secretary of State's office. City Council would have to authorize such a step, as an emergency measure to protect Beach Boulevard.

That possible legal move has not, however, been put before council for discussion.

"We're not going to sit here and let this project evaporate," said council member James Thrifflie, Tuesday night, urging an immediate resolution of the conflict by negotiation.

But council member Charles Scianna said if the property owners can't agree to sign easements required for the project, "We're going to walk away from it."

At issue is a 700-foot project creating a new, protected strip of land along the edge of North Beach Boulevard, running north of Bay View Court. Some 300 more feet of shoreline, along the edge of Casino Magic's vacant tract near the bridge, is not included in the project because federal officials didn't deem it in an emergency erosion situation.

But the rest of the project area has suffered extensive erosion in recent years; so much so that the Corps had the project declared an "emergency" action necessary to save Beach Boulevard from collapse.

With the federal program picking up most of the tab, the city agreed recently to pay some $81,700 in a required local match.

Property owners who have seen their waterside lands slip into the Bay have taken various positions concerning federal and local help.

Until this week, it appeared they were content with the idea of signing maintenance easements over to the city, giving public officials the right to build, inspect and/or repair the new Bayside property over the next 25 years.

Who will own the new strip of land -- the state or private property owners -- is a question that has dogged the project for months, however. City officials had hoped the easement arrangement would satisfy federal requirements, and leave the sticky property ownership questions to future resolution.

Tuesday night, however, city attorney John Seafide said at least some of the property owners have demanded changes in wording of the easements which the city cannot provide.

One of the changes would effectively put the city on the private property owners side in any future legal battle over ownership.

"It puts us in a position where we have to uphold private property rights to the state," said Seafide. "We cannot do that."

One of the property owners in the controversy, Judith Holmes, said she would not sign any easement until her attorney has reviewed it.

There are other issues the property owners want resolved as well -- city officials say they've been asked for a guarantee the property won't be accessible by the public and a warranty that the zoning won't be changed.

Coast prepares for governors' meeting

First Lady Pat Fordice joined Gulf Coast officials, tourism executives and Southern Governors' Association (SGA) officials for site visits in preparation for SGA's 61 annual meeting in Biloxi, Sept. 17-19.

Governor Kirk Fordice serves as SGA's 1995 chairman and host of this year's meeting.

More than 500 people are expected to attend SGA's conference on the Coast.

"Hosting these dignitaries and their families in our state is both an honor and an opportunity for Mississippi to show off all the positive things taking place in the state," said Fordice.

The association, which allows state leaders to share resources and policy information, has a membership of 19 governors representing 17 states and two U.S. territories.

Southern states and territories participating in SGA are Alabama, Arkansas, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Puerto Rico, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, U.S. Virgin Islands, Virginia and West Virginia.

The three-day conference will focus on the South's role in charting America's future and begin with a keynote address by Newt Gingrich, Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives.

In addition, Haley Barbour, chairman of the Republican National Committee and Donald Fowler, national chairman of the Democratic National Committee, will host a lively plenary session to discuss Southern politics.

Governors will also be joined by congressional and business leaders to discuss federal and state issues and the region's economic outlook.

James Lee Witt, director of the Federal Emergency Management Agency, will speak to the attendants regarding emergency management issues specific to the Southern region.

"Each year we are challenged to prepare a substantive program that the governors will enjoy. We are very pleased to have this caliber of speakers and dignitaries join us for the annual meeting," said Elizabeth Schneider, SGA executive director.

Gulf Coast officials are also seeking individuals' help to prepare and assist in welcoming the attendants to the meeting.

"We have eagerly begun preparation for the annual meeting and ask that business people and residents alike join us in extending the South's warmest welcome to these dignitaries and their families," said A. J. Holloway, mayor of Biloxi.

For volunteer information, contact Jeannie Beattie at 864-6856 or the Harrison County Tourism Commission at 896-6699.

Bay to pay engineering fees

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Bay St. Louis city officials agreed last week to pay up to $40,000 in engineering fees for two major projects.

The fees include up to $25,000 for work on the proposed Athletic Drive ballfield complex, and up to $15,000 for a drainage project in the Hancock Heights area.

Engineer James J. Chiniche has been working on both projects on an hourly basis, and notified city officials that costs for design, engineering and contract supervision will exceed previous estimates.

The ballfield complex will include seven fields, two concession stands, a storage building, pavilion, restrooms and bathing cages.

Parking is planned for two areas, and the complex will be lighted for night games. Mayor Eddie Favre said officials hope to have all seven fields in a playable condition by April 12.

The complex will sit on land owned by the local school system. City officials plan to secure a long-term lease on the property before proceeding with the project.

Meanwhile, the Hancock

Heights drainage project has been on the drawing boards for months, as officials try to ease major problems in a subdivision near Casino Magic.

Officials hope to build a system that will feed the lakes planned for inclusion in Casino Magic's new golf course, resolving the adjoining residential area's drainage problems.

Art show scheduled

Biloxi's George E. Ohr Arts and Cultural Center will present a one-man show of landscapes by Pass Christian native John McDonald. An opening party for the exhibit, entitled 'An Unvarnished Perspective,' will be held Sept. 1 from 6-8 p.m.

McDonald is an accomplished professional artist who has received significant awards for his work. He studied painting at Yale University and worked in several major museums in New York.

The show will be on exhibit in the Lila Wallace Gallery through Sept. 30. For information, call the Ohr Arts and Cultural Center at 374-5547.

LET THE INSIGHT OF A CHILD BE YOUR GUIDE

An individual who gains the confidence of children, who earns their respect, who makes them aware of the great value of their self worth, who inspires them to believe in themselves, and to become achievers, is himself a great and wonderful person. HARRY J. FARVE is such a person, coach of the Little League All Stars, my grandson's coach. Who better to judge the character of adults than children, who, in their sweet innocence, are blessed by our creator with an insight that very few of us retain into maturity?

HARRY J. FARVE is highly respected and loved among children, and among adults he coached when they were children. Of course, it goes without saying that HARRY J. FARVE is held in high esteem by the community at large, for he is a proven community leader who previously served the City of Bay St. Louis as Councilman (undefeated, he won every city election he entered), and, I might proudly add, he served the City well and with distinction, and contributed greatly to community unification and prosperity.

I urge all of HARRY J. FARVE'S friends, and all you other good, honorable, and decent people of the Fourth District to please vote for HARRY J. FARVE, Candidate for Supervisor. Remember, a vote for HARRY is not a gamble; rather, a vote for HARRY J. FARVE is a vote for a sure winner, because he is the children's choice.

IN AND AROUND DIAMONDHEAD

By Margaret Williamson

SCHOOL'S IN

Diamondhead Academy is a hub of activity since opening last Wednesday, Aug. 16 for the 1995-96 school year.

A big welcome back to former students and their parents. There are approximately 20-25 new students, mostly preschoolers, and four new teachers — Beverly Willis, preschool; Melissa Burge, first grade; and Caroline Kirkpatrick, fifth and sixth grades. The new music teacher is Magdalena Blethroad.

We wish Principal Cal Rogers and her staff good luck and success in this new school year, and we'll be reporting the students' and school's progress.

FUN DAY

Entertainment wanted! Singers, dancers, music, etc. needed at the Hancock County Welcome Center for "A Fun Day" Friday, Sept. 15 from 11 a.m.-3 p.m.

Donations of refreshments would be welcome also. Please call 255-1317 if you can help.

FOR OR AGAINST?

There will be an old-fashioned town hall meeting today at 7 p.m. in Rogers Hall at Diamondhead Academy to discuss the pros and cons of Diamondhead hosting the Nike Golf Tournament.

Everyone is welcome and encouraged to come out and express opinions.

HIGH FASHION

Congratulations to Kristin Alyea, a resident of Diamond-head, who has won the Bronze Alpha Award for custom design in couture from the Fashion Group based in New York.

It is an organization of women working in fashion and related fields. This is Alyea's second Alpha Award. Her winning entry this year was a white taffeta gown with ribbon roses, accenting a scalloped bodice. She both stitched and designed the gown.

BEST FINISH EVER

Forty-seven Diamondhead swimmers competed in the Gulf Coast championships and finished fourth overall for their best finish in seven years.

Twenty-eight team records were broken or tied during the meet. In the 6 and under division, J. J. Averill won three gold medals in free style, butterfly and back stroke events enroute to capturing the individual high point trophy in his division.

There were strong performances by Marshall Wiley, 8 and under boys; Cindy Spangler, 10 and under girls; and Billy Baumgartner, 14 and under boys.

All helped to bolster the "Volcanoes" to their best finish ever.

Congratulations to all of the Diamondhead swimmers, their coaches Barbara Gibbons and Cheryl Campbell, and special thanks to Kathy Major for running the concession stand.

Tanks too to the parents and individuals who devoted their time and energy to making this year a great success.

KOLE IS COMING

Sunday, Sept. 17, 7:30 p.m., the Diamondhead Performing Arts presents an evening with Ronnie Kole at the country club.

Tickets are on sale now at Diamondhead Discount Drugs, adults $12.50, students $3.50.

DON'T FORGET

Hancock County Clean-up Day is Saturday, Sept. 16 starting at 8 a.m. Watch this column for details.

Mississippi Dulcimer Festival

Good music is what the Central Mississippi Dulcimer Festival is all about. Dulcimer lovers from Louisiana, Tennessee, Florida, Alabama, Indiana, Arkansas, and perhaps other states will join their friends from the Central Mississippi Dulcimer Association on Sept. 8-9 at Le Fleur's Bluff State Park in Jackson and at Holmes Community College in Ridgeland for their 5th annual festival.

The sweet sound of dulcimers has drawn increasingly larger crowds every year to this event. The festival is centered around the mountain dulcimer, also called fretted, lap, or Appalachian dulcimer. However, hammered dulcimers and other acoustic instruments are welcome accompaniments.

The clubhouse and campgrounds at Le Fleur's Bluff Park, 1-55 at Lakesland Drive in Jackson, will be open all day Friday, Sept. 8, for jam session.

The festival will officially begin with a covered-dish supper in the clubhouse at 6:30 p.m. Mini-concerts by guest artists, beginning at 7:30 p.m., will be followed by jamming "in the round" and in small groups.

Saturday's activities will begin with registration at 7:30 a.m. at Holmes Community College in Ridgeland. Workshops will be held from 8:30 a.m.-12:25 p.m. Nine workshops for mountain and hammered dulcimer will be offered, and participants may attend any three for $7. A limited number of mountain dulcimers will be available for workshop use.

Mini-concerts showcasing guest artists will open the afternoon session at 1:30 p.m. Open stage, featuring festival participants, will follow.

At the conclusion of open stage, registered participants and their families will travel to Porter Farm in Madison County, where they will enjoy a cook-out and hayride.

Instructors will include David Schnauffer, Tull Glazener, Paul Andry, Lonnie Brown and Hollis Landrum.

David Schnauffer is a national dulcimer champion and recording artist. He has conducted workshops around the country for the past 15 years.

Tull Glazener of Indianapolis, will be making his second visit to Jackson. An accomplished musician and teacher, Glazener is well-known on the dulcimer circuit.

Paul Andry of Mandeville, La., placed third at the 1995 Southern Regional Mountain Dulcimer Contest at the Ozark Folk Center in Mountain View, Ark. He will be conducting workshops in Jackson for the fourth time.

Andry is well-known for playing Dixieland Jazz on the mountain dulcimer and has a tape available. He also plays guitar and piano.

Lonnie Brown of Pascagoula is well-known in Southeastern dulcimer circles. His arrangements and smooth renditions of folk music, hymns and gospel tunes are loved by all. Brown taught to a full house in last year's CMDA Festival.

Hollis Landrum of Vicksburg won second place honors at the 1995 Southern Regional Dulcimer Contest at the Ozark Folk Center in Mountain View, Ark.

Teaching workshops in Jackson for the second time, Land-rum is an accomplished musician who also plays other instruments, including hammered dulcimer and old-time banjo.

All concerts and jam sessions are free and open to the public.

Symphony opens season

The Gulf Coast Symphony Orchestra opens its 33rd season with an exciting variety of musical offerings with guest artist James Tocco, pianist, and Andrew H. Harper conducting at the Biloxi Saenger Theatre on Saturday, Sept. 16 at 8 p.m.

Pianist James Tocco enjoys a worldwide career as a recitalist, orchestral soloist, chamber musician and pedagogue. His repertoire includes virtually the entire standard piano literature, as well as rarely performed works, such as Szymanowski's Symphonie Concertante, Berg's Kammerkonzert, and Berstein's Age of Anxiety.

Composer John Corigliano declared him the definitive interpreter of his Piano Concerto, a work he has performed with the Louisville Orchestra, Atlanta, Detroit and San Diego symphonies. In recital he has been praised for his interpretations of Beethoven, Chopin and Liszt, as well as 20th century composers, and he is one of the very few pianists to regularly program the keyboard works of Handel.

For the opening concert of the season Dr. Harper has selected "Overture" to La Gazza Ladra (The Thieving Magpie) by Gioacchino Rossini. The second selection will feature guest pianist James Tocco playing Sergei Rachmaninov's Concerto for Piano No. 2 in c minor Op. 18. After intermission the orchestra will play Symphony and other dulcimer-related items will be available for purchase.

For information concerning the festival or Central Mississippi Dulcimer Association, contact Robert or Ralphine Box, P.O. Box 275, Flora, MS 39071, (601) 879-8374.

No. 9 in F, Op. 93 by Ludwig van Beethoven.

There will be an open rehearsal at the Saenger on Saturday, Sept. 16 at 3 p.m. Tickets for the open rehearsal and the concert will be available at the door.

Advance tickets for the concert are available at the Gulf Coast Arts Council, 2511 13th Street, Gulfport, phone 864-4000 or may be purchased by writing to the Gulf Coast Symphony Orchestra Inc., P.O. Box 7294, Gulfport, MS 39506. Open rehearsal is $5 and the concert at 8 p.m. is $15.

Single ticket price for 12 years of age and under is $8.

Season tickets are now on sale and may be obtained from the Gulf Coast Arts Council or by writing the Gulf Coast Symphony Orchestra, or Mrs. Jack Cleary, 1050 Conley Circle, Ocean Springs, MS 39564.

Season tickets are: 1 adult $45, 1 patron $75, 1 sustainer (2 tickets) $125, 1 benefactor (4 tickets) $250, 1 partner (6 tickets) $500, 1 sponsor (8 tickets) $1,000.

According to the "Student Stampede" program, students may attend the concert for $5 on a space available basis. The Student Stampede begins at 7:50 p.m. on the night of the concert.

The next concert will be Saturday, Dec. 9, March 2, and the Pops on April 27. The annual Barbecue Under the Oaks will be Saturday, March 30, 1996.

O'Keefe celebrated in one-woman play

American artist Georgia O'Keefe is celebrated by Lucinda McDermott in "O'Keefe!", a one-woman play presented by the fine arts department at the Jefferson Davis Campus of Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College Aug. 31 at 8 p.m.

Tickets are $8 for general admission and $3 for MGCCC students. A reception and exhibition of O'Keefe's work will follow in the fine arts gallery adjacent to the theatre lobby. For reservations, call 896-2519 or 896-2530.

The passionate, long and busy life of American painter Georgia O'Keefe is examined in this one-woman play written and performed by professional actress Lucinda McDermott.

"O'Keefe!" is as much about Alfred Stieglitz as it is about Georgia O'Keefe, explains Wayne Catlett, chair of the Jefferson Davis Campus fine arts department.

Stieglitz, renowned American photographer, known as the "father of Modern Photography," was also O'Keefe's mentor and lover. A much older man, Stieglitz was clearly obsessed with the artist and photographed her over 500 times.

The play is a story of a woman emerging from the confines of society, the story of an artist emerging from confines of tradition, and finally, the story of one's struggle to emerge from an intense love relationship intact and individual, according to its author McDermott.

It confronts the issue which has long been debated in and out of art circles: was it O'Keefe alone or her husband Stieglitz who was responsible for her success?

The 90-minute professional production is directed by Roger Mrazek, sound design is by Jonathan Firo, lighting design by John Wade, and costume by E. J. McDermott.

Reservations are strongly recommended for this one-night performance.

Menopause, hormone replacement topic of free seminar tonight

With a life expectancy in the mid-70s, a woman today will spend one-third of her years in menopause. During that period, the body no longer produces estrogen, a hormone with many positive effects.

The lack of estrogen is the culprit in many of the symptoms women experience during menopause. They are typically characterized by:

— Hot flashes and night sweats;

— Development of osteoporosis (bone density loss which makes one more susceptible to fractures of the backbone and hip);

— A rise in cholesterol level; and other symptoms.

The use of hormone replacement therapy during menopause will be the topic of a free community education workshop tonight at the City-County Library, Ulman Avenue entrance, at 7 p.m.

Obstetrician-Gynecologist Keith Goodfellow, M.D. will discuss the benefits and risks of estrogen and related health problems as part of a series of women's health topics presented by Hancock Medical Center.

"Many women are afraid to take hormones because they fear it may cause cancer," said Dr. Goodfellow. "That is not necessarily true. There are certain groups of women who are good candidates for estrogen use."

Osteoporosis most often strikes Caucasian women of slender build. Smoking compounds the odds of developing this irreversible bone loss. Women in this category, or those with a family history of heart disease, may find hormone therapy beneficial.

"Choosing estrogen replacement is a very personal decision, and should be evaluated by each woman with her physician's advice," said Goodfellow.

Anyone wishing to know more on the topic may call for information or reservations at 466-3391.

CASINO HAPPENINGS

Hot Summer Nights

Poodle Skirts and Vintage Corvettes are just two of the many ingredients that make Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino's "Hot Summer Nights" 11-day promotion the "hottest time on the Gulf Coast." The promotion begins Aug. 25 and goes through Labor Day.

Sha Na Na

Jubilee Casino

Vintage Corvettes on the pier, an old-fashioned sock hop, a fireworks extravaganza, antique slot machines and free entertainment by music legend Sha Na Na are just a few of the many fun events during Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino 'Hot Summer Night' promotion beginning Aug. 25 through Labor Day.

The casino will kick off the 11-day promotion with a free old-fashioned sock hop on Friday, Aug. 25, from 9 p.m. to midnight in their 300-seat Cabaret Showroom. The first 100 people through the door will receive either a hoola-hoop or a pair of 3-D glasses.

There will also be a dance contest with the winner taking home $250, second place $150, and third $100.

Entertainment will be provided by Laurin Munsch & Steppin' Out.

Casino patrons will receive one free entry form per day to register to win a 1965 Mustang Convertible on Labor Day, eight '50's-style bicycles and his-and-her Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino wrist watches and five antique slot machines.

Additional entry forms may be obtained by accumulating 25 Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Joe Krewe Club slot points and every Blackjack with a $5 minimum bet. Drawing times and details are available at the Players Club located on the first floor of the casino.

Guests may also win two-liter bottles of Coke and Bayou Caddy's Jubilee Casino collector's baseball jerseys.

Fresh peel-and-eat shrimp will be served at the Jubilation Cafe and Cajun Deli, and guests can enjoy three White Castle Burgers and a Coke for $2.

Entertainment for the promotion will be provided by music legend Sha Na Na. Show times are Thursday, Aug. 31 at 8 p.m., Friday, Sept. 1 at 8 and 10 p.m., and Saturday, Sept. 2 at 8 and 10 p.m. Admission is free.

A fireworks display will top off the event on Labor Day at 9 p.m.

For information call 1-800-552-0707.

Locals sound off on gaming impact

A Mississippi Tourism Resource Center survey in the state's seven counties where gambling is legal should provide local data on how gaming affects a community's quality of life.

Dr. Al Ellard, associate professor and acting dean of the University of Southern Mississippi's College of Health and Human Sciences (HHS), and Dr. Nancy Gladwell of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, are conducting a survey through the Mississippi Tourism Resource Center, USM's research and technical assistance arm in HHS.

Ellard said the survey is designed to get a feel for "the effect on the quality of life for people living and working in areas that now have gaming as part of their lives."

"We wanted the survey to give a picture of the effect of gaming as perceived by the residents, business people and elected officials in the seven counties where gaming is legal," said Ellard.

"Some of these areas have long histories of tourism activity. Other areas did not have a lot of tourism activity before gaming. The survey is designed to gauge the perceived effect of gaming on a variety of quality-of-life issues."

The survey will poll three groups — residents, business owners and elected officials — to try to gain a complete picture of the different perspectives gaming brings to a community, Ellard said.

Mississippi counties involved in the survey include Harrison and Hancock counties on the Gulf Coast; Adams, Warren, Tunica and Washington counties on the Mississippi River; and Neshoba County, home of the Choctaw Indian Reservation.

"We're asking respondents to rate their satisfaction with a number of community life factors. Respondents also are asked for their opinions about gaming visitors who visit their community and on tourism in general," Ellard said.

The survey also asks for demographic data and personal gambling behavior to see if those traits have any bearing on perceptions of tourism, Ellard said.

"This is really a broad brush kind of survey — we're touching on a number of quality of life-related issues. We feel the outcome will be important because it has not been done before and it can provide information that could be vital and valuable to decision makers and planners in the community and in the state," he said.

The Mississippi Tourism Resource Center at USM has been in existence since the fall 1989. Dr. James Holleran — associate professor and program director for USM's Hotel, Restaurant, Tourism Management program — coordinates the center's work. He said the center focuses on providing technical assistance, training education and research to tourism and hospitality industry individuals and organizations.

To reach Holleran or the center, call (601) 266-4906.

Gulf Islands celebrates National Parks Day

Gulf Islands National Seashore, both Florida and Mississippi districts, will celebrate National Parks Day Friday, Aug. 25, announced Superintendent Jerry Eubanks.

The National Parks Day will be a free day for visitors entering the Fort Pickens and Perdido Key areas. The normal $4 per vehicle entrance fee will be waived. The free day only applies to entrance fee areas and does not include camping fees, which will be charged as usual.

For frequent visitors to the Fort Pickens and Perdido Key areas, an annual entrance pass for $10 can be purchased. This will allow the purchaser an unlimited number of free entrances to the area during a calendar year.

A permit, the Golden Eagle Passport, is also sold at Gulf Islands and allows free entrance to all national park areas in the country for $25 per year. Two other permits, the Golden Age Passport for senior citizens for a one-time fee of $10 and the Golden Access Passport, free for disabled persons, are available at Gulf Islands and offer the same free entrance privileges as the Golden Eagle Passport.

The Mississippi District concessioner, Ship Island Excursions, will observe National Parks Day by offering reduced fares to Ship Island for the day. Adults may go to the island for $12 instead of the regular $14 fare. Children (ages 3-10) will be admitted for $6 instead of the regular $7 fare.

Local residents are encouraged to be "a tourist for a day" and enjoy one of the areas most popular attractions.

Boats depart from Gulfport Yacht Harbor at 9 a.m. and noon. Return boats leave Ship Island at 2:30 and 5:30 p.m., and passengers may return on either one, arriving back on the mainland at 3:40 or 6:40 p.m. For more detailed boat information, contact Ship Island Excursions at (601) 864-1014.

"Come and enjoy the natural splendor of the Seashore and the visitor program activities. Help us to protect and preserve the resources, report any vandalism to a Park Ranger or Park Dispatch at (904) 934-2623," said Eubanks.

For more information, contact (904) 934-2600.

Stennis receives visit from first Mississippian to use space technology-related vision enhancement system

Stennis Space Center recently welcomed the first person from Mississippi to utilize the Low Vision Enhancement System (LVES), a product of NASA's Technology Transfer Program.

Jacob Webb of Wiggins visited Stennis Space Center Aug. 7 to share his experiences after receiving the head-mounted enhancement imaging system. Scientists from SSC and the Johns Hopkins Wilmer Eye Institute in Baltimore, Md., used NASA technology developed for computer processing of satellite images in the development of the system.

The 21-year-old was born so severely near-sighted as to be considered legally blind, and the condition had greatly degenerated over the years. Since he received the LVES in June, Webb has discovered a whole new world. He can see expressions on his friends' faces, read street signs 1/4 mile away and for the first time, open his dorm room window to watch birds flying in the sky.

"I knew people would ask me how I feel about this, and it's hard to come up with an answer for that. I can show you, I can turn cartwheels, but I really can't find the words to tell you," he said. "You go practically your whole life, 21 years, without something, and suddenly someone just hands it to you and says, 'Here you go.'"

Webb's mother read about the original LVES design several years ago from a news release written at SSC for a local newspaper. The family decided the LVES, referred to as "ELVIS" by its users, would be beneficial to Webb and traveled to Baltimore to start the process for receiving a system. Five years later, the University of Mississippi junior will finally be able to sit in class this fall and take notes like his classmates.

The LVES is actually a portable image processing system that could make it possible to improve visual capability by appropriately enhancing and altering images to compensate for the patients' impaired eyesight. The system is designed to provide a personally adapted view of the world to someone suffering from a particular vision problem.

It consists of two orientation cameras, a zoom camera and a video projection system that provides a wide field of view for its users. The headset and the hand-held control both weigh about 2 pounds each. So far, there are about 100 units in use.

"It is good to see the positive impact of technology transfer not only from the commercial development aspect but for the improvement of the quality of life," said Anne Johnson, technology transfer officer at Stennis Space Center.

While at Stennis, Webb met with experts from the Technology Transfer Office and other SSC personnel who helped in the development of the system. He also met with Center Director Roy Estess, who expressed congratulations to Webb.

"The people at NASA and Stennis Space Center work diligently to use space technology to create products that Americans can use every day," Estess said. "It is wonderful to meet Jacob and see that his life has been greatly improved by this device."

Simple precautions during heat wave

Simple precautions like drinking plenty of water and getting the elderly out of hot, confined spaces will prevent most heat-related illness even during the summer's heat wave.

"The entire country is experiencing a tremendous heat wave, and many people don't know how to deal with it," said State Health Officer Ed Thompson, MD, MPH. "Hot weather can harm anyone who overexerts, but most often its victims are the elderly."

High temperatures can become deadly, Thompson warned, because even people living in the South are not completely accustomed to extreme weather conditions.

"During hot weather, people control their body temperatures by sweating," Thompson said. "But when hot temperatures and high humidity combine, sweat can't evaporate. So our human 'air conditioners' just shut off."

Before reaching the stage of heatstroke, heat victims usually experience heat exhaustion. Warning signs of heat exhaustion include stomach and muscle cramps, headache, weakness, nausea, agitation and confusion.

Heatstroke causes most deaths directly related to high temperatures.

During heatstroke, a person's internal temperature reaches levels of 105 Fahrenheit or greater. Heatstroke can progress to a life-threatening illness within minutes.

Each year, an average of nine Mississippians die from heatstroke. Nationally, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention estimates at least 240 temperature-related deaths even in years with no heat wave — defined by the National Weather Service as three consecutive days of temperatures above 90 Fahrenheit.

But public health officials believe those numbers represent only a portion of all heat-related deaths, because high temperatures can also complicate conditions of the heart, brain and respiratory system.

Mississippians who think they've adapted to the South's hot summer temperatures could be making a dangerous mistake, Thompson warned.

To prevent heat-related illness, the Mississippi State Department of Health urges Mississippians to take some simple precautions:

- Drink plenty of water. People suffering from heat exhaus-

- Limit soft drinks and alcohol, which draw fluids away from body tissues. Don't use them as a substitute for water.

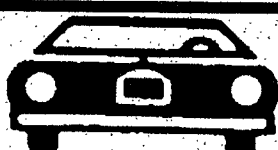

- Avoid salt tablets. They have an effect similar to soft drinks.

- Decrease physical activity. If the signs of heat exhaustion appear, slow down, get into a cooler place, and drink water.

- Wear light, loosely-woven garments.

- Never leave young children, the elderly, or pets unattended in closed automobiles.

- Check on the elderly. Make sure they have plenty of water. If they lack air conditioning, take them to a cooler place. Be aware that electric fans can lose their effectiveness when temperatures rise into the high 90s. Sometimes don't feel thirsty. In extremely hot conditions, drink a few swallows of water every five to 20 minutes.

Budget

$40,000 to build a comfort station (aside from buying seats for it), and $50,000 for sidewalk replacements.

Property acquisitions during the year are budgeted at $125,000, while the city hopes to get $50,000 by selling some 1991 police vehicles. They would be replaced by new models acquired on a lease-purchase basis.

Municipal Clerk Kay Johnson said the budget contains money to award city workers up to 5 percent raises, but most salaries will be hiked less than that. The city usually awards 2.5 percent raises to all positions, and offers merit increases to some employees as well.

City Council members will be getting $800 per month, and their president $900. That sum, said Johnson, was set before the municipal elections at the third, and final, compensation level for council. A series of raises, effective every July for three years, has elevated council's pay from $650 to $800 per month.

The mayor, meanwhile, will be paid $51,300, including a hike effective last July based on the cost of living index.

The budget contains some proposed allocations to area non-profit organizations that the city hasn't supported financially in the past.

But how much, if any, the city will allocate this year is in question. Johnson said the budget plan merely lists how much the organizations are asking, rather than how much the administration is recommending.

Funding for the Chamber of Commerce would be boosted to a total of $27,000, including $9,000 for the chamber's general operations and $18,000 for the new tourism arm of the chamber. Last year, the city allocated a total of $6,500 to the chamber.

Other outlays listed include $10,000 each for Hope Haven and the Gulf Coast Womens Center, $3,000 to the Hancock County Historical Society, $300 to the Boy Scouts, and $5,000 to the De L'Epee Deaf Center.

The city also allocates $110,000 to the Parks and Playground Commission and $150,000 for operations of the city-county library.

Mayor Eddie Favre said he'll have full details of the budget plan up for discussion Monday at a 6 p.m. workshop. Council plans to set a Sept. 5 public hearing, and adopt a final budget Sept. 12.

Noise

He offered to provide the city with a model noise ordinance to be the foundation of a new assault on "unwanted sound."

The city has been tossing the idea of a noise control effort around for a couple of years, but hasn't come to grips with what kind of restrictions are necessary and legal.

Although the city now has disturbing-the-peace measures on the books, officials say the local laws don't go far enough for effective enforcement.

While some night festivities in town and at Casino Magic have caused a rash of complaints from area citizens, no one wants to roll out of bed in the night and file a formal complaint at the police department, council was reminded by attorney Donald Rafferty.

Lacking a formal complaint for action, or written standards, police are on thin ice trying to decide what's too loud.

Scardino said the city ordinance could rely on property lines as measurement lines for noise — anything over a set decibel level emitting from a property could be cause for action by police.

What that set decibel level will be, however, is in question. City officials also have to decide whether to have particularly quiet times outlined in the law — from 1 a.m. to 4 a.m., for instance.

"We're not trying to shut anybody down," said council President Tad Black. "But we want a tool, where if somebody gets out of hand, we can have something to shut them down with."

Rafferty said the city should proceed cautiously with its ordinance, bearing in mind that trains and football games generate excessive noise at times.

To measure the noise levels, the city would have to buy meters for police officers, at some $350 each, and pay to have the meters calibrated periodically. The city also would have to provide technical training to officers using the meters.

Scardino promised to submit a formal proposal to council for further study.

USMGC offers courses for seniors

The University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Coast's Division of Continuing Education has five special interest courses on the schedule for the fall semester aimed at senior adults.

The courses are part of USMGC's Seniors Active in Learning program offered through the Division of Continuing Education. They will allow participants to bone up on Mississippi history, learn more about creative writing, genealogy and travel, or gain a better understanding of the aging process.

SAIL began in September 1994 to provide Gulf Coast residents age 55 and older with learning and other opportunities at USMGC. SAIL also provides seniors with social and other opportunities.

Among the courses planned this fall:

• "Mississippi: A History of Your Adopted State" runs from 2:30-4 p.m. on Sept. 26, 28, Oct. 3 and 5. The program offers relocated Mississippians an overview of Mississippi's long history and heritage.

Jack Rogers, director of Elderhostel at USMGC and a retired college dean and professor of history, will teach the course. Cost is $35.

• "Creative Writing: Memoirs" will be taught from 10-11:30 a.m. Oct. 5, 12, 19 and 26. Students will learn writing techniques best suited to help commit to paper memories of select experiences or unique memories. Frances Cannon — a writer, educator and columnist — will teach the course. Cost is $35.

• "Basic Genealogy" will be taught from 10-11 a.m. Oct. 10, 17, 24, 31, Nov. 7 and 14 by Anne Anderson, a professional genealogist and library director.

The course is aimed at beginning genealogists and those interested in doing family history research. Cost is $40.

"Travels with Jeanette" will feature tips and advice from Jeanette Westfall — an experienced free-lance tour director and senior adult — for seasoned travelers, would-be travelers and fun-loving friends. The course runs from 2-3 p.m. Oct. 26, Nov. 2, 9 and 16 and costs $30.

• "The Joy of Aging" will be offered Nov. 1, 8 and 15 from 10-11 a.m. and provides senior adults with information on identifying age-related challenges and positive ways to handle those challenges. The course will be taught by Helen J. Russell, a retired teacher and counselor. Cost is $30.

For information on any of these courses or on the SAIL program, contact USMGC's Division of Continuing Education at (601) 865-4508 in Long Beach and (601) 497-5135 in Jackson County. All courses will be taught at the Gulf Park Campus in Long Beach.

FEMA recruiting officers

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) is looking for qualified public affairs professionals to join the cadre of people who provide critical information to disaster victims during times of Presidentially-declared disasters, according to Morrie Goodman, FEMA director of Emergency Information and Public Affairs.

As part of the FEMA disaster response and recovery team, FEMA Public Affairs Officers serve as key staff member in Joint Information Centers near disaster sites and as emergency support staff at headquarters in Washington, D.C.

"It's our job to make sure disaster victims are quickly informed about available federal assistance so they can be the recovery process," Goodman said. "We are looking for professionals with backgrounds in journalism, public affairs, public relations, newspapers, television, radio, corporate public affairs, advertising, marketing, marketing communications, emergency information, crisis communications or the Internet and World Wide Web for a variety of emergency information assignments."

Drawn together from a variety of technical and editorial fields, the cadre of FEMA Public Affairs Officers serve as "civilian FEMA reservists" who work on an intermittent basis. They must be free to travel to disaster sites often for extended periods of time. "FEMA reservists are really the backbone of our emergency operations," Goodman said.

For more information about becoming a reserve FEMA Public Affairs Officer, call FEMA Recruiting at 1-800-879-6076 of FAX your resume to (703) 542-2484. Information is also available on the global Internet @URL: <http://www.fema.gov/fema/dae.html>. Send electronic mail to eipa@fema.gov.

Kole in concert

Diamondhead Performing Arts Society brings the incomparable Ronnie Kole and his Trio to the Diamondhead Country Club stage on Sunday, Sept. 17 at 7:30 p.m.

As one of New Orleans premiere performers, Kole's talent has brought him recognition not only throughout the United States, but to most continents. As a pianist of highest acclaim he has graced many famous states such as those of Carnegie Hall and the Ritz in Paris. Yet, if asked, he will always say that New Orleans is where his musical soul lingers.

The DPAS audience will realize the multi-talents of Ronnie Kole and his Trio as they perform music and songs from Broadway shows, a medley of Gershwin, and always the Kole jazz selections, R.K.'s Boogie, and the New Orleans classics.

Ronnie Kole has appeared as a performer on Superbowl XX, The Tonight Show, The Mike Douglas Show, The Merv Griffin Show and A Day in the Life of America. He has also hosted or co-hosted nine Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethons, 15 Easter Seals Telethons and countless others.

He has performed for former presidents Ronald Reagan, Jimmy Carter, Gerald Ford, George Bush, President Bill Clinton (who joined in) and His Holiness, Pope John Paul II.

The year 1994 has been one of many awards given to Ronnie Kole. He was named to the Louisiana Hall of Fame, given the Paul Prudhomme Award for the person doing the most for the food industry of Louisiana (the first non-chef to receive this award), presented with the Hornblowers Award by the Public Relations Society of America, and last September received the annual Role Model Award, given by the Young Leadership Council.

Tickets are $12.50 for adults and $3.50 for students. They may be purchased at Diamondhead Discount Drugs or at the door on the evening of the performance.

2B-THE SEA COAST ECHO-THURSDAY, AUGUST 24, 1995

BETWEEN THE LINES

By Richard Meek

For a brief moment on Aug. 13, time stood still as a sport and a country mourned the passing of Mickey Mantle, perhaps the greatest baseball player ever and an American hero. It was then Mantle took a third called strike from cancer, the one opponent he was unable to conquer. After a lengthy battle with the disease, a battle that included a liver transplant, Mantle passed away, but not before leaving behind a scrapbook of fond memories.

Mantle was a hero who transcended generations, an icon for all ages. His majesty on the field, his charismatic personality off of it, and a devotion to his fans make up the legacy of baseball's most famous player.

Mantle was a throwback to simpler times, days when strikes were normally mentioned in the same breath with balls, not labor disputes. Mantle and another icon, Arnold Palmer, burst onto the scene at the same time. It was not long after before we were inviting both of these legends into our living rooms via the new invention of television.

Death is always painful, but sometimes more so because it mandates us to look in the mirror and reflect. Perhaps the reflection in the mirror is what makes Mantle's death so painful. There are no heroes left.

Instead, we have to painfully endure the self-centeredness of a Barry Bonds, the contemptuous antics of a Chili Davis, the anomaly of a John Daly, the downright extortion tactics of a Don King and his playmate, Mike Tyson, and the greediness of the entire arena of professional sports.

Mantle would be considered an oddity by today's standards; he played for the love of the game. He was pure poetry when wearing No. 7. Away from the diamond, he never denied an autograph, and always found time to spend a few moments with a young fan, creating memories for that youngster that would last a lifetime.

Sure, Mantle had his flaws, but no human face is without perfection. But even in today's mercenary sports world, Mantle would still be "The Mick," ballet on the field and a diplomat off of it.

Mantle and Palmer helped create the world of television sports. But more important, they were athletes kids: could look up to and aspire to be. They represented what was good in the world of athletics.

Remembering 'The Mick'

Sadly, there are few "Micks" left.

Beginning today, this space will publish a weekly Top 10 for college football.

After having to endure a steady diet of Big 10 football for the last four years, it's nice to return to SEC country. The Big 10 plays excellent football, but lacks the pagentry that characterizes the SEC.

Notre Dame will put the most talented team on the field this season, but the Irish's national championship hopes rest on Lou Holtz's ability to maintain his composure for an entire season. By the time last season ended, Holtz had lost control of himself, and his team.

Ladner and Schonewitz split a pair

By Melvin Breland

There were two features at Sun Coast Speedway in the Late Model Sportsman, Street Stock and Rookies due to a carry-over from last week.

In the first Sportsman feature, Mike Ladner and Marty Broadus shared the front row as they took the green flag. At the start, Broadus, Schonewitz and a couple of others tangled coming out of turn one, but all managed to remain in the race.

On the restart, it was Ladner moving out to the lead for the win. Schonewitz managed to get by Broadus with only a few laps remaining, but did not have time to make up any of the lead Ladner held on the rest of the field. Broadus held on to third, with Ben Davi and Mitchell Williams next in line.

The second feature saw Schonewitz and Randy Brownlee on the front row as the green fell. Schonewitz moved to the front for a flag-to-flag win. Ladner managed to get by Brownlee and challenge Schonewitz for the lead, but came up short as Schonewitz would not give up the top spot. Brownlee finished in the third spot, holding off Howard Dempsey and K. I. Davis.

There was only one feature in the Street Stock carried over. Doug Bilbo lead the field to the start, but it was Lonnie Scarbrough moving out to the lead. Scarbrough held the lead until mechanical problems forced him out.

Johnny Willis was charged with a caution, sending him to the rear of the 18-car field. As the race progressed, Willis worked his way back toward the front. As Scarbrough pitted, turning the lead over to Cliff Darby, Willis would soon be in the second spot. Willis managed to move to the front, but was unable to pass Teck and had to be disqualified.

Willis started from the front row pole in the second A maine of the evening, but suffered mechanical problems causing him to pit in the early going.

Ernie Parker took over the lead, where he was able to hold off Lonnie Scarbrough in a wheel-to-wheel finish. Willie Marin finished in fourth behind Joe Schlautman, but was moved up after Schlautman was disqualified.

In the B maine, Doug Thigpen managed to outdistance Rodney Barber and Angie West for the win. West and Barber went wheel-to-wheel for the second spot. West held off Doyle Ladner and Steve Maylaux for the third place finish. West also claimed a heat win along with Biblo and Jason Smith.

In the Four-Cylinder Modified Division, it was Jamie Farve taking the lead on the start, but it would be short-lived due to mechanical problems.

Jimmy Necaise picked up the lead, but could not hold off Marus Jacobs. Necaise did hold off Jerry Farve for the second spot to go along with his heat win.

Jason Kilpatrick shared wins with his father, Allen, in the Rookie Features, driving the same car. Rickey Holtin and Daryl Watts followed Allen to the finish line, while Kevin Wright and Ken Nelson chased Jason. Wright won the heat over Jason in the only heat of the night.

In the Pro Stock Division, it was the familiar face of Jamie Luzenberg starting on the pole in the 14-car field. Donald Parker, winner of one of the earlier heats, started alongside Luzenberg.

As the green flew, Luzenberg moved out front with Parker challenging on the high side where he found trouble in turn three. Parker got into the loose stuff where he went over the track in a rare mistake by Parker.

He was sent to the rear of the pack on the caution, from where he put on a driving exhibition in moving back toward the front. Several cars helped Parker, one of whom was Ronnie Roberts, as his motor went up in smoke, sending him to the pits.

Parker managed to work his way into the third spot behind Bubba McQueen, but could advance no further. Luzenberg claimed the win, adding to his growing number of Feature wins.

Lovick-Spinks wins Player of the Year

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Casino Magic tennis pro and Power Bar endorsee, Margaret Lovick-Spinks, has been recently named the 1995 United States Professional Tennis Association's Southern Division Female Player of the Year. This marks the second year in a row that Spinks has gained this honor.

President of the USPTA Southern Division, Tom Daglis, presented the award to Lovick-Spinks in Birmingham on August 12.

She sealed the award by winning the USPTA National Women's Open Clay Court Championships in Houston, Texas, at the River Oak Country Club.

Lovick-Spinks had to overcome dehydration and severe leg cramps to secure the title. She finished off Natalizia Dero-ma 6-0 in the third set to win the match. She stated, "It was tough overcoming the pain of the cramps and the dehydration certainly slowed my game down. However, with the help of my trainers we overcame it and won."

This win showed the mental toughness that Lovick-Spinks has over herself and her opponents when she steps on the court. She commented, "To win this award is great but I want to continue to improve. I want more."

The 1995 Tennis Coach of the Year went to John Bryan, who just happens to be Lovick-Spinks' coach.

The Casino Magic tennis pro showed her mark of a champion by dominating the southern circuit without losing a match all year.

Towards the end of her season she stated that her physical condition improved due to the fact that she trains with world-renowned trainer Macky Shilstone.

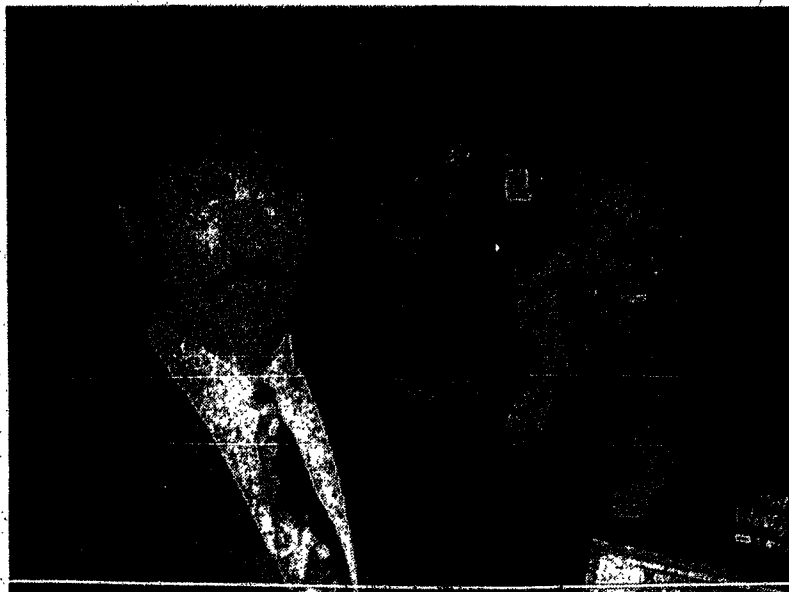

Shilstone is also the trainer for world class boxer Riddick Bowe.

At the moment, Lovick-Spinks is training hard for the National Championships that are being held in Boca Raton, Florida, in September. This tourney has a purse of $35,000.

Next week, she plans to attend the U.S. Open in New York where she has been asked to do an 'on-court' performance for the New York Tennis Teachers Conference.

Casino Magic and Margaret Lovick-Spinks have been a 'Magic' tandem over the last two years as they have set the tennis world on fire.

Lovick-Spinks hopes Casino Magic still plans to build their tennis facility so that she will be able to perform on 'Magic' ground.

Player of the Year

Casino Magic tennis pro Margaret Lovick-Spinks receives her 1995 USPTA Southern Division Female Player of the Year award from Tom Daglis, president of the USPTA Southern Division. This marks the second year that Lovick-Spinks has gained the honor.

Necaise earns top ten finish at AQHA World Championship

Toni Alain Necaise of Pass Christian competed against 59 entries to earn a top ten finish in stake race at the American Junior Quarter Horse Association World Championship Show, Aug. 5-12 in Fort Worth, Texas.

"This is the highest honor a youth exhibitor can earn in American Quarter Horse Association arena competition," said AQHA Executive Vice President Bill Brewer. "Toni Alain Necaise should be congratulated for this prestigious accomplishment."

The AQHA World Championship Show is the pinnacle event for the 30,000-member American Junior Quarter

Horse Association. The show featured 1,953 entries from around the world competing for 30 world championships, making this the largest youth world championship horse show.

Horses must earn a predetermined number of points in AQHA-approved shows between May 1, 1994 and April 30, 1995. The show was sponsored by Wrangler Jeans and Shirts, in conjunction with Cowboy Tack, Drysdale's Western Store, GMC Truck, Montana Pride, NBNA America, Sooner Trailer Manufacturing, Justin Book Co., Resistol Hats, Miller Harness Company and Quarter Horse Outfitters America.

Alumni Association sponsoring buses

The University of Southern Mississippi's Alumni Association will sponsor bus trips to three out-of-town USM football games this season.

Trips included in this year's schedule go to Birmingham to see the Golden Eagles play Alabama, to Knoxville for a matchup with Tennessee, and to Memphis for a gridiron meeting with the University of Memphis, said Ron Phillips, alumni association executive director.

Phillips said there also is a possibility of organizing a bus trip for the USM game with Southwestern Louisiana Nov. 18, but no formal plans for that trip have been made at this point.

USM vs. Alabama (Birmingham): Sept. 9. A bus leaves Gulfport at 6 a.m. from the parking lot of Kmart on US-49 and picks up riders in Hattiesburg at 7:30 a.m. from the Reed Green Coliseum parking lot. The bus returns to both originating points following the game, which begins at 2 p.m.

Cost is $60, which includes a ticket to the game, or $38 that includes bus fare only.

Net licenses required

Emergency regulations adopted by the Mississippi Commission on Marine Resources prohibit the sale of gill and trammel net licenses to anyone who has not purchased such licenses during at least one of the past five years.

To obtain this type of license, applicants must provide proof they were license holders between May, 1990 and April 30, 1995, along with proof of state residency and physical address. Boat registration numbers will not be accepted as proof of residency.

Also, gill and trammel net licenses are not transferable to anyone who did not hold a valid Mississippi license during the past five years.

"At a recent workshop members of the commercial and recreational fishing communities voiced concerns that there could be an influx of net fishermen from other states," said Fred Deegen, fisheries director for the Department of Marine Resources. "This regulation is in response to those concerns."

Alabama, Louisiana and Florida all have recently enacted legislation banning or limiting the use of gill and trammel nets.

The new regulations were not prompted by biological considerations, but will protect those individuals who have traditionally engaged in net fishing in Mississippi, Deegen added.

The regulation went into effect immediately and will remain in effect for 120 days, subject to renewal by the Commission.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

It's time to go fishin' y'all. There are many tales of sea-going folk adding a pinch of salt to enhance the flavor of their morning coffee. I have even heard of folks adding pieces of egg shell to their coffee pot in quest of the perfect cup of coffee.

I guess the egg shells are to add a touch of calcium to ward off osteoporosis, or whatever. In any case, there is nothing that beats a nice cup of coffee in the morning to get ya' ready to go fishin'.

As the Turtle has been saying for years, there are so many benefits to fishin' that it is no wonder the old boy upstairs created seven times as much water as land so we could fish seven times more often than we work.

Even so, the benefits keep accruing. Take, for example, the routine of a morning cup of coffee. In the past few weeks you didn't even have to have your morning cup of coffee at home before you went fishin'.

There is a real advantage to this condition, 'cause if you want to catch a few extra Z's before you go fishin', but still want your morning cup of coffee, all ya gotta do is put the fixins in a cup and bring the cup with ya when you go surf fishin'. The water in the surf is warm enough to add to your cup of instant coffee and brew it up real quick-like.

For those folks who like a pinch of salt, it is already in the water you are gonna add to your cup. If you feel the need for a bit of calcium, you can pick up a few shells right outta the surf and add them to your cup. Fishin' has all kinda healthy benefits.

Now that all the fishin' buddies are aware of the healthy benefits from fishin', that is if you call your morning cup of coffee healthy or just necessary for survival, the fishin' buddies should know the fish are bitin' like crazy in the early morning surf. This is especially true since high tide is early in the morning.

A check of the live bait places in the area revealed the curious fact that the live shrimp are large enough to place a saddle on them and ride the shrimp to lasso fish instead of hooking fish. Maybe the idea is to use the large shrimp to herd the fish to ya' in a group instead of only catchin' one fish at a time.

I know it is hardly possible but I gotta stop with the foolishness for a second — time's up. Anyway, the fish are really hungry over in the Louisiana Marsh for those folks who want to make the trip over open water to get to the Marsh.

Please remember to beware of thunder-bumpers, 'cause they make an unsafe trip over open water when they decide to stir things up with wind and rain. In other words, they are dangerous out in the Sound.

The Commission on Marine Resources has a new chairman. The new chairman is Dr. Vernon Asper. Dr. Asper lives in Diamondhead and is one of the two commissioners who represent Hancock County. Dr. Asper should bring an unparalleled degree of oceanographic experience to the Department of Marine Resources.

The CMR held its monthly meeting Aug. 15 in its new offices located at 152 Gateway Drive, Biloxi, MS 39531. Several interesting topics were on the agenda.

Sea Pride Industries was issued a permit for the transport of polluted oysters from closed beds to a specially built cleaning rack at July 1995 meeting. Their permit was revoked at this meeting because they were not in business as a resident for the required five years before the permit was issued.

At the meeting a gentleman gave a brief talk about the life cycles of shrimp. It seems when the prevailing spring winds are from the southeast, as they were this year, the floating eggs of shrimp are blown into the marsh and we have a good season on shrimp.

When the prevailing winds are in other directions the floating shrimp eggs do not make it to the Mississippi estuarine areas and we have a poor shrimp season.

The Commission took no action on the reduction of size and creel limits on speckled trout at this meeting. There will be a public hearing next week, and the results will be discussed at the September meeting of CMR to determine if the creel limit on speckled trout will be reduced to 10 fish per fisherman per day.

They are also going to decide if the current provision allowing the keeping of five trout of 12 inches in length will be discontinued.

The Commission was told the work on the low profile fishing reef in Waveland is scheduled to start at any time.

This week's wonderful wise words: Only use instant coffee if you are gonna make coffee with hot surf water, 'cause coffee grounds take too long to brew.

Do ya think fish need coffee in the morning, Turtle?

Labor Day: Weekend for boating fatalities

Labor Day weekend is the last big weekend of summer. Unfortunately, it's also a big weekend for boating fatalities, according to BOAT/U.S. (Boat Owners Association of The United States), the nation's largest organization of recreational boaters.

As many as 40 people will die in boating accidents on Labor Day weekend. But many of the fatalities could be avoided if more of the nation's boaters followed basic boating safety rules.

"Wear a life jacket. Don't overload your boat with people or equipment. Don't drink and boat. It's that simple," said BOAT/U.S. President Richard Schwartz.

The Association estimates that about 80 percent of the victims in fatal boating accidents aren't wearing life jackets. About 30 percent are passengers in overloaded boats. Up to 50 percent of fatal accidents involve alcohol use by the boat operator or passengers.

BOAT/U.S. has these other suggestions for boaters to keep in mind:

• Know before you go — get a weather forecast. While underway, keep an eye on the sky.

Weather conditions on the water can change quickly. If foul weather finds you, head for the nearest safe shore or harbor.

• Keep a sharp lookout for other boats, swimmers, skiers or object in the water while the boat is moving. Most boating accidents are collisions.

• Take a boating safety course. Not only will it make you a better boater, but anyone who completes an approved boating safety course through September 1, 1996, will receive a complimentary one-year membership in BOAT/U.S.

Mississippi announces new hunting and fishing guide

Mississippi now offers a new Hunting and Fishing Guide for all sportsmen and anglers interested in the Magnolia State's vast outdoor resources.

The free guide features 35 pages of useful hunting and fishing information, illustrated with color photography and helpful maps.

The guide also provides an overview of state game and fish regulations as well as lists traditional season dates and bag limits.

"Mississippi has more than 2 million acres of public hunting lands and hundreds of lakes and rivers that offer some of the best fishing in the southeast," said Governor and avid sportsman Kirk Fordice.

"We created this easy-to-use outdoors guide to assist resident and non-resident sportsmen and anglers and to make it easier for outdoorsmen to find places to hunt and fish in Mississippi."

"To assist in planning a hunting or fishing trip, the guide divides the state into five geographical regions: The Delta, Hills, Plains and Gulf Coast," said George Smith, director of Mississippi's Department of Tourism Development.

"Each section provides easy-to-use maps, addresses and contact telephone numbers for each of the state's 36 Wildlife Management Areas, nine National Wildlife Refuges and seven National Forests as well as identifying nearly 500 state and federally operated lakes, reservoirs and other public fishing areas."

Also available is a new Outfitters Guide that provides the names and addresses of many of the state's hunting and fishing guide services and outfitters.

For a free copy of Mississippi's new Hunting and Fishing Guide and the Outfitters Guide, contact the Mississippi Department of Tourism Development at P. O. Box 849, Jackson, MS 39205 or simply call 1-800-WARMEST (927-6378).

Treatment, follow-up with speech-language disorder can help child

Talk coming from the mouths of preschoolers often has parents doubled over in laughter, but speech-language problems are no laughing matter, says a University of Mississippi professor.

For years, speech-language pathologists have encouraged early intervention as a means of treating speech-language disorders in young children. And for good reason, says Dr. Marie Byrne, an Ole Miss assistant professor of communicative disorders. Communications skills are critical to school success and personal interactions, and much of our speech and language learning occurs from the time we are born until we are 4 or 5 years old.

Recent research shows that one particular phonological disorder — characterized by patterns of speech errors — now is being linked with later problems in reading and spelling, Byrne says.

"Understanding the link between the disorder, and school work will help a child have a better chance to develop adequate reading and spelling skills. If a parent doesn't understand the relationship, you may be targeting other areas which are not going to be as important for the child."

The disorder is characterized by patterns of errors, which means a child collapses two categories of sounds into one. For example, a child might produce the word "see" as "tee" because she has the sounds "s" and "t" in the same category.

She doesn't realize that changing the sound changes the meaning. This is different from the child who produces "see" as "tee" because she doesn't have the necessary motor skills to produce the sound; simple maturation usually enables motor skills to develop, says the professor.

Preschoolers with this disorder should have speech-language therapy, but monitoring their schoolwork may be needed for several years, ensuring adequate progress is occurring.

"What research has found is children who have these error patterns are at-risk for problems in phonological awareness, even if speech therapy has corrected speech-language difficulties," Byrne says.

Phonological awareness requires an understanding of the sound system of language. For example, a teacher may ask a student to complete a rhyming task.

"What word sounds like cat?"

she asks. If a child has poor phonological awareness, she may not be able to discern appropriate answer. Or, the teacher may say, "Tell me a word that starts with 'b.'" To answer correctly, a child has to think about the sound system.

"There are children who are perfectly normal in every respect except that they have difficulty in mastering the sound system of language," Byrne says.

Reading and spelling problems in school may not surface right away because a child usually has a sight-word vocabulary based on cues, such as the first letter of the word or the shape of the word. A child can rely on these visual cues for word recognition for a while, but there's only a limited number of words that can be identified by that process, the professor says.

"If a child is not developing age-appropriate phonological awareness skills, then she may benefit from help given by a speech-language pathologist. Progress should be followed through the early school years, and a child should be particularly monitored if she is in a classroom where the whole-language approach to reading is being used," she says.

"Whole language does not emphasize phonological awareness, so a speech-language pathologist could provide some training to supplement this approach."

Whenever parents of a preschooler are concerned about speech-language development, a professional evaluation is always a positive step.

"A general rule of thumb is that a child who is not intelligible to strangers by the time she is three should definitely be seen by a speech-language pathologist," the Ole Miss professor says.

"It's appropriate for a child who's difficult to understand even at 2 years of age to be evaluated because a child is going to be very frustrated if she is not able to make her needs and wants known."

"A child who has difficulty learning speech and language skills early will arrive at kindergarten ill equipped for the kinds of learning that take place in a school setting if speech-language therapy has not been made available."

For a referral to a certified speech-language professional, call the Mississippi Speech-Language-Hearing Association at (601) 932-6796 or the Ole Miss Speech and Hearing Clinic at (601) 232-7271.

Band of Gold to debut Aug. 24

The Band of Gold, Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College's premier marching band, will debut its 1995 halftime show during a special performance Aug. 24 at 7 p.m. at A. L. May Memorial Stadium on the Perkinston Campus.

Dr. Willis Lott, acting vice president of the Perkinston Campus, says, "The band has been putting in grueling 12-hour practice days in 100 degree weather. This special performance is a salute to their hard work. We invite families in the community to bring their children to enjoy the music and the marching."

The band will be joined by the Perkette dance team. It is directed by Kathleen Braun. The Band of Gold is directed by David Dueitt with assistant band director David Allen.

The community is also invited to gear up for the 1995 football season on Aug. 30 during the "Meet the Team" pep rally at 5:30 p.m. on the Perkinston Campus. The team will be introduced, and football coaches J. C. Arban, Ode Burrell, Chris Calcote and Steve Navy will comment on the season's forecast. The first game of the season is at home on Aug. 31 at 7 p.m. against the Northwest Rangers.

The Band of Gold

The MGCC cheerleaders, Perkettes and Band of Gold will also perform. Cheerleader sponsor Tammie Weathers says, "The team doesn't get to participate in halftime festivities during games. We have this event so our students and the community can meet the players, and the players can see the performances they miss during the regular games."

For information about the Band of Gold show and the "Meet the Team" pep rally, call 928-6220.

Balancing sports, academics

Getting the right mix between sports and studies can be difficult for student athletes as long practice hours and traveling take their toll. However, careful preparation and planning can mean doing your best in both athletics and academics, says David Wells, University of Mississippi associate athletic director for compliance and student services.

"It's extremely important for student athletes to utilize time management, self-discipline and goal setting in order to balance their studies with playing time. But in the end, it boils down to individual commitment," Wells offers the following tips to help with the balancing feat.

- Always remember why you're in school. Time spent in high school or college is primarily to get an education. Playing at Wimbledon or with the St. Louis Cardinals, Dallas Cowboys or Los Angeles Lakers may be in your sight for the future, but remember — only about 2 percent of college athletes ever make it to the professional ranks.

- Make every minute count. Time, and how you organize it, is the biggest problem. "Competition levels have increased tremendously over the last two decades. Athletes are stronger, bigger and faster, because they are working at it more and sometimes sacrificing time that should be devoted to academic pursuits," said Wells, adding that in season, an athlete usually must dedicate 35 to 40 hours a week to his or her sport.

- Hit the books at every opportunity; learn to study on the road — riding a bus, in airport terminals — even after winning a game.

- Seek tutorial assistance at the first hint of trouble. "We, for example, will provide tutors for our athletes on any subject," said the Ole Miss

Student studies in Great Britain

Joseph Lee, 24, of Bay St. Louis, was among 241 University of Southern Mississippi students returning from England after participating in USM's British Studies Program.

The July 12-Aug. 14 program, sponsored by USM's Center for International Education, provided students with an opportunity to earn graduate or undergraduate credit in 18 different fields ranging from anthropology to business to nursing.

USM's College of International and Continuing Education offers summer study-abroad programs in more than 10 different locations around the world — including Austria, Jamaica, three locations in Mexico, Germany and Ireland.

School uniforms

Ole Miss survey of local parents indicates support

Would incidents of violence in public schools decrease if all school children dressed alike? That's just one question addressed in a recent survey of parents' of fourth-grade students in Oxford and Lafayette County on the pros and cons of school uniforms.

The majority of the parents, for different reasons, favored the use of school uniforms in the study conducted by the University of Mississippi Department of Home Economics.

The project "Perception and Attitude of Selected Oxford/Lafayette Parents Regarding School Uniforms" was funded under the Faculty Small Grants Program and directed by Dr. Patsy Alexander Elmore, professor of clothing and textiles.

Elmore chose fourth-grade students because research has shown these children fall within the age range when clothing is especially important for their social and emotional development. They have pronounced ideas about what should be worn related to what their playmates and schoolmates wear. One of their greatest fears is that of being ridiculed by their peer group, and clothing can be an easy object of ridicule.

Fifty-four percent of responding parents favored the use of school uniforms, with 51 percent marking their survey in favor of uniforms in grades one through 12. Sixty-three percent indicated they thought any adopted dress code should be mandatory instead of optional.

When asked to respond to the statement: "Uniforms discourage crime and acts of violence," 42 percent agreed, while 35 percent disagreed. (The remaining 23 percent either had no opinion or did not answer that portion of the survey.)

About 60 percent were not concerned with uniforms limiting a child's expression of creativity or individuality, the majority believed uniforms would be cheaper than regular school clothes, and almost one-half agreed that uniforms create a climate more conducive to learning and promote a spirit of school pride.

Eighty-seven percent of the 144 parents responding to the survey had never attended or been a part of a school system that required students to wear uniforms.

While the wearing of public school uniforms has been slow to catch on in this country, it is commonly practiced in European, African and South American systems, says Elmore, who teaches a course that deals with the sociological, psychological, economic and cultural aspects of clothing. It includes discussions of the role of uniforms in various aspects of society.

Since metropolitan Baltimore and Washington, D.C., public school administrators decided to experiment with voluntary adoption of school uniforms in 1987, the practice has begun to spread, according to the Ole Miss research.

A public school in Jackson initiated uniforms in 1992, and California Gov. Pete Wilson signed a bill in 1994 allowing school districts to require uniforms.

Also, in 1994, five public schools in Memphis tried uniforms, with plans to double that number in the future. In recent years, Memphis and Detroit have been among cities either debating or surveying uniform use in public schools, an idea which has become a worldwide issue.

Elmore relates several personal experiences that pricked her interest in pursuing such a survey: In 1955 she was a teacher at Crandon Institute in Montevideo, Uruguay — a government-approved private school offering K-12 instruction to students of middle- and upper-income levels. Traditionally the institution required uniforms, but that year the administration relaxed the requirement, permitting students to wear regular clothes, says the Ole Miss professor.

"On the first day of the relaxed policy, all of the students wore regular clothes; about one-third were back in uniforms on the second day; the third day saw about two-thirds in uniforms; and by the end of the week, all were back in uniforms."

The following year, Elmore was principal of a small, rural, private elementary school in western Cuba where students wore uniforms. "Although differences in socioeconomic background existed, the uniforms made all students appear equal and concealed the fact that several received total scholarships because of parents' inability to pay."

In 1990, the Ole Miss professor spent seven weeks in Kenya, Africa, interviewing parents about their attitudes toward required school uniforms. Elmore found that those parents favored the uniforms for reasons similar to the Oxford/Lafayette County parents, including: decreased clothing costs, increased self-confidence, improved discipline, discouraged truancy (because the uniforms were easily recognizable) and eliminated socioeconomic differences in appearance.

Plans call for expanding the Ole Miss research to include other possible applications, such as exploring the effects of uniforms on relationships within family units, how results from this study compare with other parts of Mississippi, effects of uniforms on behavior and food consumption of children in lunchrooms, and the impact of uniforms on the local economy where they are used.

While administrators in participating schools expressed an interest in knowing the results of the Ole Miss research — which is a collaborative effort by all tenure-track faculty in home economics — Elmore emphasizes that none of the schools had requested such a survey.

"The results have been made available to them, and whether or not they pursue the issue is their decision."

Negative labels mar teen's self-image

By Dr. Ann Jarratt
4-H Youth Development
Cooperative Extension Service

"I'm getting a bad complex. My parents are divorced, and I live with my mom. Lately, every time I watch the news or read the newspaper, I see something about how hard it is on the kids of divorced parents — especially when they live with the single mother."

"I think I'm pretty normal. I know a few kids who live with both parents, and they don't seem to have it together much better than I do. Do you think that kids from a single parent home can make it?"

I definitely do think you can make it! You can't do anything about your parents' marital status, but you can control many important aspects of what happens to you.

You're in charge of your thoughts and attitudes. You make most of your own choices and will suffer the consequences of those decisions. You're in charge of setting goals and working to make them happen. It's you who listens, concentrates and learns in school. No one can do that for you.

Don't allow yourself to be labeled in any negative way. Labels won't stick unless you apply them to yourself.

"I'm a sexually active teen. I wasn't carried away by the emotion of the moment. I love the guy I'm with, and we decided together that we wanted to enjoy the more intense closeness of a sexual relationship.

"Contrary to what adults always say, things are great. What do you have to say to that?"

There are a lot of "ifs" that can happen to make the rosy picture you painted turn ugly. What if your best contraception efforts fail and you become pregnant?

What if he finds someone else whom he thinks can provide an even more intense closeness? What if you're forced into marriage before you've had time to accomplish your own personal goals?

What if you contract a sexually transmitted disease? What if it's AIDS and you die?

What if one of you becomes highly jealous and possessive and becomes violent with the other?

Just because you've made this choice doesn't dictate that you have to remain in the situation if you begin to see a negative side.

Just as you decided to become sexually active, you can decide to stop that activity. Take charge and stack the odds in your favor.

Spend some time alone thinking about your future. Write down the things you think will be most important in your life.

List the steps you will have to take to help make these happen. Assume you have the ability to control the barriers that could get in the way of your goals.

Be sure to put respect for your body, your mind and your heart at the top of the list.

***

If you have any questions concerning your teenage years, write Dr. Ann Jarratt, 4-H youth development specialist, Box 9641, Mississippi State, MS 39762.

TRUSTEES SALE
WHEREAS, on the 1st day of February, 1992, Jim M. D. Henderson and wife, Cheryl G. Henderson, executed a deed of trust to John L. Genin, Trustee, to secure an indebtedness therein mentioned to James D. Baird and wife, Patricia G. Baird, which deed of trust is recorded in Book 363, pages 512-16, Records of Mortgages and Deeds of Trust Land, Hancock County, Mississippi; and

WHEREAS, default having been made in the payment of said indebtedness, and the said James D. Baird and Patricia G. Baird, the legal holders of said indebtedness, having requested the undersigned Trustee to foreclose on said deed of trust for the purpose of paying said indebtedness and costs;

NOW THEREFORE, I will on the 19th day of September, 1995, within legal hours (between 11:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m.), offer for sale and sell to the highest bidder for cash at the front door of the Hancock County Courthouse in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, the following described property situated in Hancock County, Mississippi, to-wit:

Commencing at the Northeast corner of Fractional Section 16, Township 9 South, Range 16 West, which corner is the Northwest corner of the Henry Jarral claim; thence South on the section line 1351 feet to an iron stake; thence East 1155 feet along the south line of the NASA Buffer Zone iron stake on the east side of the Lower Bay St. Louis Road as a place of beginning; thence East 188-1/2 feet to an iron stake; thence South 15 degrees East 165 feet along but not including an existing fence to an iron stake; thence North 87 degrees East 20 feet along including an existing fence to an iron stake; thence South 8 degrees East 100-1/2 feet along including an existing fence to an iron stake; thence West 222-1/4 feet, more or less, to the middle of White's Bayou; thence Northwest along the middle of White's Bayou to the south line of the Lower Bay St. Louis Road; thence Northeast 100 feet, more or less, along the south line of Lower Bay St. Louis Road to the place of beginning; said land containing 2 acres, more or less, and being part of the Henry Jarral claim, Section 37, Township 9 South, Range 16 West, Hancock County, Mississippi.

Together with all and singular, the rights, privileges, improvements and appurtenances to the same belonging in any wise appertaining, will convey only such title as is vested in me as Trustee.

ADVERTISED, POSTED AND DATED this, the 24th day of August, A.D., 1995.
